

The HALESWORTH BOOKSHOP

In Support of INK 2023 The Halesworth Bookshop is supporting Author Events with book sales across the weekend, do come and join us

Friday 14th - 7pm in The Bookshop we have Gerald Elias, talking about and signing copies of his latest book Murder at The Royal Albert.... After receiving this lovely email below - we couldn't say no - A Free Event - Come and meet Gerald and hear about this exciting new book....

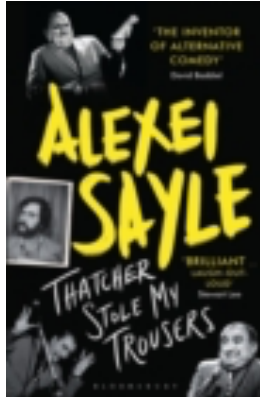

"I'm writing to you because parts of the story take place in Blythburgh and Walberswick. That's not by coincidence, either. While I was writing the book, my wife Cecily, a genealogy aficionado, discovered that her ancestors are from that vicinity, and so I naturally had to include those towns in my story. As it turns out, we will be visiting the area for two weeks in April, going on long walks and visiting church graveyards, in between frequenting as many pubs as possible. We had originally planned to make this trip two years ago, but Covid intervened, perhaps fortunately, as Murder at the Royal Albert, distributed by Ingram, released on January, 2023. Since all of this feels so serendipitous, I was wondering if it might be possible to schedule a book event at your lovely bookstore in Halesworth."

Saturday 15th, Gregg Mosse will be here at The Halesworth Bookshop at 12:30, straight after his morning workshop in the library - Come and join us for an informal Q&A about Greg's work and the chance to purchase his most recent book. Greg will be happy to sign copies of this fantastic new mysterious Crime thriller 'The Coming Darkness'

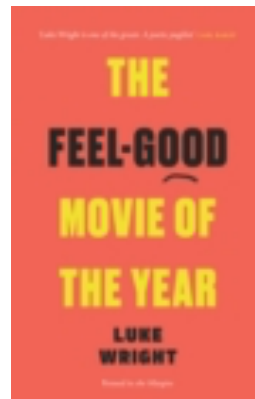

Global warming and pandemics have torn through the fabric of society. Alexandre Lamarque of the French external security service is hunting for eco-terrorists. Experience has taught him there is no one he can trust - not his secretive lover Mariam, not even his old mentor, Professor Fayard, the man at the centre of the web. He is ready to give up. But he can't. In search of the truth, Alex must follow the trail through an ominous spiral of events, from a string of brutal child murders to a chaotic coup in North Africa. He rapidly finds himself in a heart-thumping race against chaos and destruction. He could be the world's only hope of preventing THE COMING DARKNESS

Saturday Evening we will be at The Cut supporting stand-up comic Alexei Sayle who is also an actor, author, TV presenter and creator of Alexei Sayle's Imaginary Sandwich Bar, a mixture of stand-up, memoir and philosophy. He will be joined on stage by performance poet Luke Wright.

Following their performance we will have a collection of both Alexei's and Luke's books on sale in the foyer, offering the opportunity to meet the authors and purchase signed copies.

Sunday 16th, 11am at The Cut - The Halesworth Bookshop will be supporting the super fabulous Jan Etherington who will be introducing a series of short extracts from her hit comedy BBC Radio 4 series about the ups and downs of married life. David Morrissey and Helen Atkinson Wood play the roles made famous by Joanna Lumley and Roger Allam. A Q&A follows along with the opportunity to purchase a signed copy of the book.
